

For my final full comp, I went with my first style-tile. The second style-tile was a bit harder to read because of the font that I chose. Also, the movies, T.V., and video games pictures were difficult to read, that made me worried that the website was not done professionally enough. My first style-tile was much sleeker in its design and easy to understand. I believe that doing these style-tiles helped me narrow down my ideas, and take a big step forward in my design process of my final website. I spent about two hours on each design, but I gave more attention to detail on my first style-tile because from the beginning I loved it the best.
