Final Project Brief: Geeks with Opinions (GWO)

'Geeks with Opinions' is a news source for everything involving movies, television, and video games. The 'GWO' YouTube channel now needs a website to more frequently update their fans on the latest news in the topics listed above. This site will have headlining photos and several articles attached. There will be separate pages for video games, television and the home page will be movies. The design of the website should be simple and not too busy with words. There should be a photo and a short headline of the story that photo is attached too.
